

ADWR FEE TABLE (Effective June 4, 2011)

I. Application and Filing Fees

A person submitting an application or other filing to the Department must pay either an hourly fee or a fixed fee, depending on the type of application or filing. The person must also pay the actual cost of mailing or publishing any required legal notice of the application or filing and the Department’s mileage expenses if a site visit is necessary. Applications subject to an hourly fee will be billed at the rate of $118 per hour for the Department’s time in reviewing and making a decision on the application, up to a total maximum hourly fee. Hourly fees do not include the first 60 minutes of pre-application consultation time, any time spent by Department staff in traveling to and from a site inspection and any time spent by Department staff on an administrative hearing. Persons filing applications subject to an hourly fee must pay an initial fee when the application is filed, which will be applied toward the total hourly fee. The following tables list applications and filings that are subject to hourly fees and fixed fees and, for applications subject to an hourly fee, the required initial fee and the total maximum hourly fee:
